

Alex Cohen Diabetes Research Top-up Scholarship 2011

Purpose

The Diabetes Research Foundation of WA (DRFWA) has made available a sum of money from the Alex Cohen Diabetes Scholarship Fund for the purpose of providing top-up scholarships to students in receipt of an Australian Postgraduate Award (APA) conducting research based around clinical, cause, complications or psychological aspects of any form of diabetes at the University of Western Australia (UWA). Collaborative research is encouraged.

Value

Funds will be available for the duration of an APA up to 75% per annum of the award.

Eligibility

The top-up scholarship is open to applicants who are in receipt of an APA and who are enrolled at the University of Western Australia.

Applicants must reside in Western Australia for the duration of the scholarship.

Applications

Written applications should address the following:

- (a) applicant details, including name, address, telephone, email, date of birth and citizenship
- (b) academic qualifications
- (c) previous research experience, outlining skills acquired
- (d) previous research publications, abstracts and presentations
- (e) relevant work or practical experience
- (f) a statement of interest in this field of research
- (g) contact details of three referees including name, position, institution/organization, telephone and email address

Applications can be submitted online.

Conditions

Conditions for the Alex Cohen Diabetes Scholarship are governed by the UWA Ad Hoc Scholarship Regulations and the Additional Regulations as outlined by the DRFWA. These are available from the UWA Scholarships Office - <http://www.scholarships.uwa.edu.au>

Opening/ Closing Date

Applications open on Tuesday 1st June 2011 and close on Friday 15 July 2011.